

SHOPLIFTERS ARE IN COURT TODAY

Preliminary Hearing of L. Davis
And Pretty Ola Hayden
Begun.

BOTH PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Five Skirts and Four Waists Found in
Their Possession Identified—Bates
Bail is Increased.

Practically the entire morning session in Judge Diehl's court was taken up today in the preliminary hearing of L. Davis and pretty Ola Hayden, alleged shoplifters, charged with grand larceny. The case will probably take this afternoon and tomorrow morning before Judge Diehl will decide whether or not they shall be bound over to await the action of the district court.

Davis and the woman were represented by Atty. William Newton and the prosecution is in the hands of Asst. County Atty. Myers. The defense waived the reading of the complaints and pleaded not guilty.

Milton E. Lippman, manager for Cohn's, testified that the firm he represented was the owner of five silk skirts and four silk waists which were found in the possession of the man and woman and which were stolen from Cohn's. Mr. Lippman gave the price of the articles and said they totaled in value the sum of $55.05.

Three lady clerks for the store testified that they saw Davis and the Hayden woman in the store on two or three occasions and that while the woman made some minor purchases the man wandered about the store and hung around the counters where the skirts and waists were displayed.

The man Davis is having his hearing first. Miss Hayden was in the courtroom when the cases were called but before any testimony was taken Detective Sheets took her back to jail. Her hearing will follow that of Davis.

If Mike Gullfoyle returns to Salt Lake he will serve six months in the county jail for exhibiting a deadly weapon and threatening violence to Mrs. Maggie Gilborne. A few days ago Gullfoyle pleaded guilty to the charge but was permitted to leave town, and the time for sentence was fixed for today. Judge Diehl sentenced him to six months in the county jail and if the man returns the sentence will be in force and he will have to go to jail.

Atty. Newton made a strenuous effort this morning to have the bail of Ola Bates, the Idaho rancher charged with the abduction of Miss Nettie Walker, aged 17 years, reduced to $250 but instead of the court doing that, the bail was increased from $500 to $750, and tomorrow the matter will come up and it will then be determined whether or not Bates goes back to Idaho to answer the serious charge against him.

Extradition paper from Idaho is expected hourly, and in the meantime Bates is charged with being a fugitive from justice and with abduction. Atty. Ray Van Cott appeared in court this morning as associate counsel for the state. He said that the girl's father had employed him to assist in the prosecution and indicated that the man would be vigorously prosecuted.

When Atty. Newton sought to get the bail reduced, Judge Diehl stated that he had been informed, on good authority, that it was Bates' purpose to give bail if the amount could be reduced, and then leave the state, forfeiting the amount, and to guard against this and to insure the man's return to Idaho the amount was increased.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—The visit of Rose Stahl, following upon the heels of the mediocrity—or worse—which the town has endured of late, comes like a breath from Elysian fields. Miss Stahl's visit, and her presentation of her successful play "The Chorus Lady," is especially welcome because it affords one of the all too rare instances when a Broadway star keeps her company strictly up to the Broadway standards, even though she is traveling to the opposite edge of the continent. Last night's presentation was almost identical with that given in New York the last two years, and the enthusiasm of the audience showed that it was all vastly appreciated. Miss Stahl is an artist, genuine. She contributes to the stage an entirely

A new picture of stage life; one that is so true and real that it is something more than "holding the mirror up to nature." Her own character is so admirably portrayed, that it makes the average auditor rub his eyes and wonder whether he is really gazing at a stage presentation. We have all seen chorus ladies of the Patricia stripe, though not all of them are moved by the noble impulses which actuated this heroine. The scene behind the stage, and all the tawdry, demoralizing elements of a chorus girl's life, are held up in a way that ought to be vastly instructive. Mothers who have stage struck girls, could not preach them a more powerful sermon than to take them to observe "The Chorus Lady," the story is untold rather than exaggerated.

Miss Stahl's support is in all ways worthy of herself. An excellent piece of acting was the Dan Mallory of Mr.

MARKED FOR THE REAPER

About three years ago Mrs. L. Hetkes of 519 Kilkham street, Oakland, Cal., died at our office with a girl thirteen years old, the latter weak and listless. She stated that she had lost a daughter through kidney disease and the doctors now told her this one was in the same fix and that she could live but a short while.

The mother was nearly distracted. We told her that kidney disease was really inflammation of the kidneys and that it was in fact incurable under the old theories, all of which were kidney kidney inflammation had been discovered and that the child would probably recover. The mother took the treatment with her.

We skip three years. A few months ago Mrs. Hetkes called with a beautiful young girl, who was the very picture of health. She introduced her as the dying patient of three years ago, and told us to refer anybody in the world to her. She stated the recovery was complete about the eleventh week.

Lucas. Delightful sketches along the homely, but lovable Irish lines, were contributed in the father and mother of Mr. Shine and Alice Leigh. Miss "Emerson's" Nora, the innocent whose jealousy brought all the troubles upon her sister, was finely rendered; the villain of Mr. Williams was a careful piece of work, and the scene in the girl's dressing room, in spite of the loudness of some of the costumes, was indispensable to a correct narration, and was well done by the several ladies concerned.

Miss Stahl and her company had some enormous recalls after the third act from a big and brilliant audience. The bill runs through the week, with a Saturday matinee tomorrow.

Orpheum—The fine bill of the week is in its closing nights. The usual crowded matinee is looked for tomorrow.

Grand—The popularity of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" seems to diminish in no degree whatever, if the audience which greeted the Grand production of the old drama at the Grand last night may be taken as a criterion. The initial performance was attended by a good crowd and the story of slavery was presented, the auditors seemed bound by the same spell that has marked every other production of the favorite. The Stetson company of players is a regular feature of the Grand bookings each year, and it always comes well balanced in parts. Capable hands are entrusted with the roles and a good attraction is assured; last night was no exception to the rule. The company has some new faces this season, but they were welcomed at the playhouse upon their first appearance here. The offering runs through to the week-end with Saturday matinee.

Lyric—Tonight sees the end of the week's bill, and Manager Clark announces the usual complete change tomorrow afternoon.

Colonial—The scaffolding is all down in the interior, and visitors to the house yesterday were most enthusiastic in their exclamations over its beauty. The seats will be installed in the next few days, and the management promise everything will be in readiness for the Nordic opening next Wednesday. In the meantime the advance sale is going on at the Clayton-Daynes Music company.
